Five Days in June

Today, the most overused introductory is Today,.

Today, nobody knows what the hell they’re talking about.

Today is no longer tomorrow; when today was yesterday nobody knew what the hell they were talking about.

Today, I will put ten dollars on Pigs in Moonlight, take my winnings and disappear into the Ottoman Empire.

Today, the Ottoman Empire is a furniture store on Queens Boulevard.